IN THE SPORTING WORLD.

RACE TRACKS DISTRIBUTED $5,477,952 LAST YEAR.

Sheepshead Bay Headed the List With $571,300 in Thirty Days of Sport - Danny Maher Goes Back to England, but May Ride Here Again Next Year.

The remarkable prosperity of the turf in America last year, even with the sport barred in several of the Western States, is shown in the advance sheets of Goodwin's Official Turf Guide. The amount of money distributed to horsemen in the United States and Canada, exclusive of the value of cups and plates, was $5,477,952. Had there been racing at Chicago and St. Louis on the old lines probably $1,000,000 would have been added to this amount. According to the figures compiled for the Guide, the Brighton Beach Racing Association, in twenty-eight days of sport, gave away $325,495, which included $25,800 in second and third moneys not guaranteed. The Brooklyn Jockey Club, in thirty days racing, distributed $349,165, 102 races being run at Gravesend. The Coney Island Jockey Club, also with thirty days, handed out $571,300 to successful owners who took part in 180 events, including one worth $33,740, two of $25,000 each, three of $20,000 each, one of $17,285, one of $15,000. one of $12,675, one of $12,425, one of $10,000, two of $8,000, thirty-six of $1,200, sixty-four of $1,000 and fifteen of $900 each.

The Westchester Racing Association, which enjoyed thirty days at Belmont Park, distributed $375,000 in 180 races, the most valua-ble one being for $15,420. In 122 races at Aqueduct the Queens County Jockey Club paid out $128,950, the richest event being worth $7,200. At Jamaica the Metropolitan Jockey Club gave $129,800 to owners of winners and placed horses in 138 races. At Saratoga $283,840 went to successful horsemen in 132 events, the most valuable being a $50,000 stake. The Washington Jockey Club cut up $118,530 among owners in 209 races, while Providence got rid of $49,400 and Buffalo $85,850. It is also shown that out of a total of 7,763 races on the flat more than 5,500 were at distances of one mile and under. There were 337 cross country events, which showed larity. The magnitude of the sport in this State alone is well illustrated by those figures.

Owners and breeders would be in dire straits if the enemies of the sport should manage to score a triumph at Albany.

Danny Maher sailed for England on Saturday with twenty trunks and a man servant. Before leaving he held a reception at his Broadway hotel and told some friends that this would probably be his last season on the English turf. Sir James Miller, to whom Maher was under contract to ride this year, died recently and the jockey at present is without an engagement, although his services are in demand on the other side and may be secured by Lord Derby. But Danny is tired of British ways and is pining for the life among friends here, who want to see him score some more notable triumphs on the Jockey Club tracks in the East before he re-tires permanently from the saddle. Maher has his money invested in this country and that is another reason why he evidently hated to sail away. He goes abroad in splendid health and will be able to ride at 115 pounds vithout any trouble owner in California, having cleaned up $50,000 so far at Oakland and the other tracks on the Coast. W. B. Jennings stands second on the list, with a trifle under $20,000. Jennings, by the way, has released Bill Knapp, who has been riding for him all winter, as the jockey has another contract to fulfil. In Knapp's place Jennings has engaged a sensational colored jockey named L. Williams, who will come East. It is said that Williams bids to be the find of the winter season and that he will cut a big figure on the metropolitan circuit. Jennings says he will start either Graziallo or San Nicholas, possibly both, in the Carter Handicap at Aqueduct and that Proper will be pointed for the Brooklyn Handicap at Gravesend.

The latest news from the Kentucky breed ing establishments concerns two noted horses who have not been in retirement long. Mc-Chesney last week was mated to his first mare at James B. Haggin's Elmendorf Stud and in the course of the next two months he will be bred to other noted young matrons there. Dick Welles, the holder of the world's or one mile on a circular track who is standing at Woodlawn, is the sire of a bay colt out of Lady Roller, by Falsetto-Imp. Flora. This is the first foal of the wonder-

The New York Americans are off for Birmingham to-day and an army of fans will root for them from now until fall. In spite of the poor showing of the team last year which was chiefly due to an unprecedented run of misfortune in the shape of all sorts of accidents, which kept the team in a constantly crippled state, there is every evidence that Manager Griffith will have a powerful combination with which to make another fight for the American League pennant. To all appearances he has succeeded in fortify-ing himself against another run of hard luck, as he has a regiment of players to draw from and enough of them will be kept on the payroll to guard aganst sudden accidents to the regular players. When Griff has succeeded in getting a line on all the men who will report to him at Birmingham it is safe to say that outside of the pitching department he will assign the regular positions as follows: Catchers, Kleinow, McGuire and Thomas; infielders, Chase, Williams, Laporte, Elber-feld, Moriarty and Yeager; outfielders, Conroy, Hahn, Keeler and Dougherty. Griffith is sure to try Moriarty in the outfield because of the reports of his ability to play anywhere and also for the reason that the Americans' manager wants to make room for Laporte in the infield. Griffith has received liberal backing from his employers, who have offered no suggestions to him as to players engaged or the probable makeup of the team. It is all up to the manager and he knows it, too But that will not worry Griffith, who is a veterap and has already made good as a leader of ball teams.

Young Fitzgerald, who is with McGraw's champions at Memphis, may be a "find." He hails from Albany, where he caught for several independent teams last year and did so well that a well known fan recom-mended him to the manager of the New York Nationals. Fitzgerald is 23 years old, 5 feet 11 inches tall and weighs 180 pounds. active, well put up and ambitious, but lacks experience. He will be developed if there is any talent in him, as McGraw knows how to get the work out of young players.

Dulis Criger of the Boston Americans, republy the best catcher in the profession, priously ill at Hot Springs and may never ball again. Spinal trouble, it is said, the cause of his present condition, which, cording to players who have seen him at the Springs, is pitiable. Criger has wasted away so that he weighs a trifle more than 120 pounds and can hardly move around. The physicians who are attending him say that he may recover, but from present indica-tions it will be out of the question for him to ion a Boston uniform for a long time to come. if ever again. Criger's loss means that the Bostons will be hard up for an experienced backstop to handle such pitchers as Young... Dineen, Gibson and Tannehill, as Charley Farrell, the veteran, has just gone into the tel business at Maraboro, Mass., and says he is through with baseball.

Terry McGovern was the magnet for a crowd of sporting men who looked him over esterday at Johnson's Road House in Jerome McGovern indulged in a ten mile run in the morning in spite of the muddy condition of the roads, and when he got back to his quarters he found that the vanguard the visitors had arrived. things hum when he stacks up against Battling Nelson in Philadelphia next week. Terry got on the scales yesterday noon and tipped the beam at 134. He will scale under 130, he says, when he enters the ring. Nelson, who weighed 144 pounds, it is said, when he began real work last week, will have no difficulty in making 133 pounds, but that will be quite enough for him, from all accounts.

Having wriggled out of a mill with Jack O'Brien because of failure to agree upon the weight Tommy Ryan, who alleges that he is the middleweight champion, also sidesteps a match with Tommy Burns, who can fight at 160 pounds. Ryan does not care to take chances with any first class man so long as he can get the money fighting second raters and men who have been "planted" by him in country towns

CROSS-COUNTRY RUNNING.

McCherry and Driscoll Run a Dead Heat in Mott Haven A. C. Handleap.

The Mott Haven A. C. gave an open handi-cap of six miles yesterday and it attracted a splendid entry, every club in the locality being represented. The fine pack of sixty-six men stripped at the start, which was at the clubhouse, 13sth street and Third avenue, and they covered a course of six miles, which was in the shape of a spheroid, taking in Mott avenue, Cedar Park, Walton, Gerard and Jerome avenues as far as 183d street and returning by 162d street, with the finish at 138th street and Mott avenue. Consider able interest was attached to the race owing to the entry of W. G. Frank, who has been selected for the Marathon race on the Olympic team. He acquitted himself well and, starting from scratch, made the best time over the course, his figures being 29 minutes 56 seconds, but Mellor of the Mohawks and Basson, who is running unattached, ran very well, being only a few seconds behind very well, being only a few seconds behind the time of the scratch man. J. Malone of the Mohawk A. C. won the novice prize, his time being 32 minutes 31 seconds, and the team prize went to the Mohawks as well.

For first individual prize a notable incident accurred. M. Driscoll of the Mercury A. C., with a start of five minutes, and G. McCherry, unattached, six minutes, ran a dead heat. They tossed for the prize and the coin fell on the lucky side for McCherry.

Cline Wins Cup Emblematic of Shortstop Supremacy Gossip of the Game.

The cup offered by the Brunswick-Balke-Collender Company, emblematic of the shortshop supremacy has been won by Harry Cline of Philadelphia. The conditions of the cup vere that it should go to the player winning the most games in the series of 18.2 balk line tournaments which began four weeks ago in Philadelphia. The first tournament, which had Cline, Tom Gallagher of New York, had Cline, Tom Gallagher of New York, Ed McLaughlin of New York, Albert Cutler of Boston and Al Taylor of Chicago as starters, resulted in a tie for first money between Cutler and Cline. On the play off Cutler won. McLaughlin was taken ill, and was compelled to drop out of the tournament. In the tournament at Daly's the following week Cline, Cutler and Gallagher tied for first money and divided. McLaughlin reentered the competition in Trenton the week after, but failed to win a game, Cline winning the tournament with four victories and no defeats. the tournament with four victories and no defeats.

Mel aughlin was unable to play in the fourth tourney, played at the Knickerbocker Academy, Brooklyn, last week, in which Cline and Gallagher tied for first money, each with four victories and two defeats. They will play off the tie this afternoon. Cline won fourteen games in the course of the four weeks. While perhaps not as skilful as Gallagher at wide play and cushion shots on as Cutler at close work, his playing in the tournaments was better than that of any of his rivals in the various styles of play combined. His system is one calculated to bring good returns, and he was proficient at ball to ball play and balk line mangauving. The records made in the tournament in Brooklyn last week were as follows:

OPEN TOURNAMENT DATES.

KNOLLWOOD, SHINNECOCK HILLS AND LAKEWOOD FIXTURES.

Other Clubs Should Get Into Line to Reserve the Time Wanted—Interscholastic Golf Here and Abroad-Herd and Kirkaldy May Play at Boston To-day.

Open tournament dates have been assigned by the Metropolitan Golf Association to the Golf Club of Lakewood, Knollwood Country Club and the Shinnecock Hills Golf Club. The list of local dates officially sanctioned to date is: Golf Club of Lakewood, April 19, 20 and 21; M. G. A. amateur champion-ship, St. Andrews, May 23, 24, 25 and 26; Knollwood Country Club, June 14, 15 and 16: Englewood Golf Club, national, July 10, 11, 12, 13 and 14: M. G. A. open championship, July 26, 27 and 28: Shinnecock Hills Golf Club,

This is a good beginning and the hint to get into line should stir up some of the other club committees. The Deal Golf Club is to hold its usual midsummer tournament, and should the Seabright Golf Glub wake up from its long sleep, a Rip Van Winkle emergence threatened every season since the last open tournament in 1899 or 1990, the second and third weeks in August might be made lively ones for golfers of the New Jersey shore resorts. The New York interscholastic tournament will be at the Garden City course on May 17, 18 and 19. It has the indorsement of the M. G. A., but does not require exclusive dates. The Garden City Golf Club has held a spring tournament for the last two years and may be expected to continue the fixture this spring. Clubs wishing to hold tourna-ments are required by the M. G. A. to apply to Secretary Calkins for dates. The applica-tions should be made early, as this helps to avoid possible conflicts with tournaments in other districts.

Herd and Kirkaldy, with fine weather, may get eighteen holes on one of the Boston links to-day and try American turf greens for the first time. This has been a phenomenal season for open links about Boston, with crowds out for informal play each week end, and as a first on record there were Washington's Birthday competitions at Wollaston and Brae Burn. The British champions are without clubs, yet they may be trusted to give a grand round. Kirkaldy's 72 at Aiken is said by those who followed to have been flawless golf; not a mistake being made and each lie played for all it was worth. Herd had 74 the same round, which would have been a stroke less but that on the sixteenth, where Kirkaldy had 3, he tried to gobble a 2 to beat him, running to the far edge of the green. George Low and Percy Barrett served as caddles at Aiken and the visitors dubbed them "Fiery" and "Big Crawford," after the two most famous Scotch caddies.

Kirkaldy's hand and wrist were swollen from rheumatism yesterday morning, but Kirkaldy's hand and wrist were swollen from rheumatism yesterday morning, but he may be in trim to-day should circumstances permit a game. He is not too keen on golf, as they sail to-morrow morning and Kirkaldy has to meet an uncle at Boston whom he has not seen in thirty years. Kirkaldy is a fine, lusty chap, of companionable manners, and by no means the rough diamond to be imagined from the line of stories golf writers abroad take delight in printing about him. He has been playing in the British open championship for thirty-four years, barring six years he was a soldier in the Expytian campaign, and he tied for first place with Willie Park, Jr., the year he got back from the wars. He speaks highly of Park and says the professionals must all thank him for the increase in the open championship prize money. Golf is not the occasion of the flerce local feuds and rivalries that it used to be in Scotland, Kirkaldy observes. As late as 1887, when he played Willie Park, Jr., a $2,000 match after their tie, when he seemed to be winning at Musselburgh, Kirkaldy had four fist fights with upholders of the home player, between the seventh and ninth holes. They played from the tees through avenues lined by the crowd, and Park's friends stood massed at the putting greens, so that the only place the ball could fall was near to the hole.

There was a spirited final round on Monday

There was a spirited final round on Monday last in the first amateur championship of the year for 1906. It was at the Los Angeles Country Club, between William Frederickson of Los Angeles and Alden B. Swift of Chicago, who was the title holder of 1904. The title in dispute was the amateur championship of southern California, held last year by Walter Fairbanks. It seemed at first that Frederickson would have to claim the title by default, for Swift and Nathaniel F. Moore were arrested on the way to the links for exceeding the speed limit in an automobile and did not arrive until very late. Thirty-six holes were played, over a perfect course and in ideal weather. Frederickson was 1 up in the morning and won out by 3 up and 2 to play. The new champion has been prominent in California golf and was runner up last in California golf and was runner up last year to Farbanks. Frederickson took part in the national amateur championship at Wheaton last summer, scoring 91, 85-476, which was two strokes over the limit to qualify.

Chicago, Philadelphia, Boston and New York have now their well established schoolboy golf championships, the latter really a national tournament, as it is open to all; but schoolboy golf has even now no formal recognition in England. The chance there, should it come at all, will be due from the pressure of the fathers, who have regret that the delights of golf were not made known to them in youth, and in the light of bitter experience they say they would have gone without their cricket and football if they could have been started right on the links. Scottish boys have no such embargo to overcome, and the victory of A. G. Barry in the amateur championship is one of the consequences, aside from the general enjoyment to all conferred by the privileges of golfing. Golf is allowed at Eton, and there is a links within reach. About 100 of the boys are players. This is also the situation at Rugby. There is some makeshift golf at Malvern, Charterhouse, Clifton and Christ's Hospital. There is a small links at Rossall, but golf is not a school game, nor is it recognized at St. Paul's, Westminster or Marlborough school.

In fact, there is little school support for the game in England and the boys are not as keen on it as in Scotland. The situation is one that the wise golfers seek to alleviate until such time as the school policy may change, by seeing that their boys are taught to play as soon as they are big enough and strong enough. They know what a place in their lives golf will hold and see that the boys have a fair start, that in after life they may not reproach their doubt and carried on the New York tournament, which since 1904 has been carried on by St. Paul's School of Garden City, which has the advantage of a links bordering the grounds.

"The victory of Willie Smith in Mexico was a source of gratification to his old clubmates on Tayside," states the diaspon Herald. "His non-success in the recent American championships was in a manner compensated for by the splendid attack of his brother Alec, who is one of the most graceful players in the country of his adoption. Migrating to the United States at an early age, the hero of the Mexican featival was unknown beyond the confines of his rative green. Locally his reputation was great, in competition and interclub matches—a favorite school for the budding Carnoustic artisan professional—but Willie was never called upon to fight in public events in the old country, and it was only after he went to America that his talents were properly developed. On the links at an early age he, like Edward Blackweil, copied no one's methods, but quite naturally acquired a style in driving and approaching which is the envy of his employers."

which is the envy of his employers."

This is an after match story from C. B. Fru's Magazine: A well known Nonconformist minister, who is an enthusiastic galfer, had met at a golf dinner a music hall comedian equally well known in his own sphere, and equally enthusiastic. A match was decided on, but for various reasons it was repeatedly postponed. Some weeks later the pair met again on a course on which they were both visitors. "We haven't had that game yet," said the comedian. "No," said the minister, "but I seem to feel that it will come off some day—perhaps in a future state of existence. Keep it in mind." "Right," replied the comedian. "Home and home, remember."

PALM BEACH, Fla., March 4.—The final for the woman's championship, which was to be played yesterday, was won by Miss Msie Trowbridge of New Haven, Conn., by default, Miss Dorothy Taylor having to leave Palm Beach last night, which was a disappointment to her friends, as they thought she had a chance to win. There will be a three days tournament for men, beginning Tuesday, March 6, for cups presented by Davidson Lloyd.

Pacific Coast Colleges Turn Down Rugby. San Francisco, March 4.—The Inter-collegiate committee of Berkeley and Stan-ford met last evening and decided not to adopt the game of Rugby. The committee decided Rugby was not suitable for either freshman or intercollegiate games and that until the Eastern college rules were changed present rules should remain undisturbed. Genuine

LUXURIES ON NEW BOATS.

MANY VESSELS BEING TURNED OUT FOR YACHTSMEN.

Handsome Cruising Craft Fitted With All Conveniences for a Southern Yachtsman—Gasolene Boat for a Fishing Club Expected to Make 18 Miles an Hour.

A boat is being built at Bayonne, and will soon be ready for launching, which will be one of the most complete and up to date cruisers ever turned out for a boat of her size. She is for a Southern yachtsman who has had two boats built and now wants a third, and he has given the builders, the Electric Launch Company, a free hand in the designs and fittings of the boat. This boat is 93 feet long, 13 feet 6 inches beam on deck and a depth of 7 feet moulded. The boat embodies excellent seaworthy qualities, speed and comfortable cabin accommodations. The hull is most substantially built, the frames are of heavy oak, the planking of selected yellow pine and it is copper and bronze fastened throughout. There are five watertight bulkheads and plenty of room inside for large cabins. At the forward end there is a large chain locker with room for an electric power capstan with a deck control. Next comes the forecastle, which is equipped with two Pullman berths, toilet and lavatory. This is finished in oak and has large ports for light and ventilation. The owner's quarters are next aft and are enclosed with plate glass windows and Venetian blinds. The headroom in these quarters is 7 feet 6 inches. The joiner work is in African mahogany with eggshell finish. There are two wide Pullman berths with deep drawers underneath, a large solid mahogany dresser with deep., wide drawers, and other furnishings in this apartment.

A private bathroom adjoins the owner's saloon and this has a porcelain tub, shower bath, porcelain basins and tollet fixtures.

The sides of this bathroom are finished in white enamel up to the wainscoting, with mahogany panelling above and a porcelain The engine room is amidships the full width of the boat and 15 feet 6 inches long. This is finished in mahogany. There is a large bridge deck over the engine space, from which point the yacht will be handled. Next aft comes the galley, and special attention has been paid to the equipment of this apartment. It has a large range with this apartment. It has a large range with nickel fittings, oven, warming closets, and is large enough to cook a meal for thirty persons. There is a large ice box, glass lined, and the usual sink, cubpoards and closets. Aft of the galley, by a short passageway, the main saloon is reached. This is fitted with four extra wide Pullman berths and the four extra wide Pullman berths and the saloon is finished in African mahogany. This, too, is enclosed with plate glass windows and there is a large deck skylight. The stairs leading to the deck aft are of solid mahogany and the entrance doors and hatch

The after deck is 15 feet long and is covered with awnings, green lined. Teak bulwarks surround the main decks, with mahogany and brass railings. The machinery consists of two 100 horse-power six cylinder reversible Standard motors. Eight hundred gallons of gasolene will be carried in copper fuel tanks.

The vacht will be completed by April 1 and will make the trip South by the outside route. She is to be equipped with a complete electric light plant and storage batteries. The dynamos are to be driven by an auxiliary engine, which also furnishes power to an air compressor and bilge and deck pumps. Electric fans are to be installed throughout the boat and the electricity will run a powerful searchlight, electric stoves for afternoon teas and chaffing dish. An electric pump is also fitted to the baths and it will only be necessary to touch a button and the bath will be filled with water. Two 14 foot tenders are to be carried on the davits.

A novel boat is being built for Jacob Helnrich, the president of a fishing club, which will be used to take fishing parties to the Banis. This boat is also being built at Bayonne. She is 100 feet long, 17 feet beam and 4 feet draught and will be able to carry one hundred passengers. The contract calls for eighteen miles an hour with one hundred passengers on board. This boat will be equipped with a 500 horse-power Standard motor of 6 cylinders. It will be ready for delivery in the standard motor of 6 cylinders. D. C. Blair is having a 55 foot electric yacht built by the Electric Launch Company for use at Bar Harbor.

Mr. Blair has a 30 foot electric boat now which has pleased him so that he has ordered a larger one. This boat will be 55 feet over all, 8 feet 8 inches beam and 30 inches draught. The power equipment will consist of two to horse-power electric motors with a storage battery capacity for propelling the yacht on one charge 100 miles at a speed of ten of twelve miles an hour, and at lower rates of speed a distance of 150 miles can be covered on one charge of the battery. The operation of the boat is all controlled in the forward cockpit. The cabins are finished in African mahogany inside and out.

A large fleet of boats are being turned out at the Electric Launch Works at Bayonne, which are all in an advanced state. Mrs. Kate P. Dickson of Wilkesbarre is having a 25 foot electric boat built which is to be used at Paul Smith's. This boat will be capable of going sixty-five miles on one charge. J. S. Kennady has ordered a similar boat for use at Bar Harbor.

Two 35 foot trunk cabin lauches, each flived with a 25 horse-power Standard gasolene motor, are being built for the E. W. Bliss Company, and are to be used in towing torpedoes on Peconic Bay, where they are tested. These boats are almost ready for delivery.

Commodore Cornellus Vanderbilt is having a 35 foot motor boat built to be used as a tender on his steamer North Star. This boat has been designed by Tams, Lemoine & Crane and is to be fitted with a 80 horse-power motors. The hold with a 80 horse-power motors. This boat will be very handsome and built of mahogany.

Eben Stevens has ordered a 40 foot, hunting cabin boat which was designed by E. B. Schook. She will be equipped with an 18 horse-power motors. The hull will be planked with cedar and the interior fitting will b

The boat will be ready for delivery about June 1.

Ex-Mayor F. W. Wurster of Brooklyn has placed an order for the duplicate of Commodore Boardman's boat in length, beam and horse-power. The interior cabin arrangements will be slightly modified: cabins throughout handsomely finished in mahogany. The boat will be ready for delivery about June 1.

June 1.

John A. Spoer of Chicago has placed his order for an electric launch for use at Pittsfield, Mass. The boat will be handsomely finished and be ready for delivery about May 1.

COLLEGE SCULLING RACE OFF. Syracuse Hears There Will Be No Centest in Poughkeepste Begatta.

The Syracuse University crew authorities are in receipt of information which practically determines that there will be no event for quadruple fours at the regatta of the Intercollegiate Rowing Association at Pough-keepsie on June 23. At their annual meeting the stewards decided to place such an event the stewards decided to place such an event upon the programme should there be three entries. As Syracuse and Pennsylvania are the only institutions which would have en-tered such a race next June the contest will fall through for one year at least.

James A. Ten Eyck, coach of the Syracuse University crews, is the father of the quad ruple four race idea, and he would be glad to see such an event. Information has been received from Wisconsin, Columbia and Correceived from Wisconsin, Columbia and Cor-nell to the effect that they will not undertake sculling next year. Coach Ten Eyck is in receipt of a letter from Coach Dempsey, in which the latter states that lack of material and facility will deter him, although he is favorable to the new idea.

The date, February 26, is the earliest appearance of the varsity crew upon the water. Twenty-four freshmen worked in the boats the same afternoon. Out of door work, however, is being held up by the present cold spell.

Of the members of the crews in the eight and four of the varsity at Poughkeepsie last June Coach Ten Eyck has lost three men. These are C. B. Dempster, last year's captain, who was graduated; D. G. Stone, whose health will not allow him to row this year, and A. M. Armstrong, who is not in college. Dempster rowed at 5 in last year's varsity eight, while Stone and Armstrong occupied 3 and bow respectively in the four.

Of last year's varsity men there are at present in training the following: Capt. J. W. Salisbury, A. G. Squires, W. W. Andrews, Ross Anderson, S. F. Rice, O. E. Cumings, and D. A. Davis. Members of last year's freshmen eight and substitutes are in training for the varsity boats this year.

Edward Newman Packard, Jr., varsity stroke for the last two years, has not yet extered the crew room. Packard is in the medical college now and his work there will interfere somewhat with his rowing but he will begin training within a few days. Coach Ten Eyck has about forty freshmen under his direction.

will begin training within a few days. Coach Ten Eyck has about forty freshmen under his direction.

Candidates for the baseball team are at present working in the gymnasium under the direction of Capt. A. G. Rutherford, who is assisted by last year's captain, L. O. Burrell, the Rochester Eastern League team's third baseman. James W. Heffernan, this year's coach, will report about March 8.

Among the present pitching candidates for the team are: Stein, the varsity fullback of last fall; Whitmire, a freshman from Pennsylvania, and Davis, also a freshman, from Gloversville. Among the infield candidates who have shown up well in the early work are De Brois, a law freshman, who is out for first base: Wheeler, a possible second baseman, who hails from Chicago, where he played on several amateur teams, and Dan Scully, captain last year of the Williston Seminary nine. Scully was considered one of the best baseball players in the preparatory of the best baseball players in the preparatory schools in the East.

Many candidates for the outfield are among the new men about whom more can be told when the team is able to go out of doors. Capt. Rutherford again will be at shortstop, "Shanks" Wilbur behind the bat or on first base and Jimmy Ryan in centre field. Morrissy and Powell, other members of last year's outfield, are again caudidates for the team. McBirney, last season's star twirler, Watkey and Lembeck, also good men in the box, are again working for their positions.

The basketball season will close next Friday with a game against the University of Pennsylvania quintet. Should the Syracuse five finish the season without meeting defeat every effort will be made to arrange a game with Williams.

Finn had the move against, the visitor and chose the 4 Knights opening. Very exact play on the part of the New Yorker enabled him to meet every attempt on the part of Marcezy to establish an attack, and a position finally resulted where neither player, with bishops of opposite color on the board, could afford to do more than play for safety. A truce was then declared. This evening Major Hanham will oppose the expert from Budapest in the final same of the series.

Yale Crews Already Racing.

NEW HAVEN, March 4.-Coach John Kennedy got his three Yale crews together in the harbor yesterday afternoon and told them to get ready for a race for two miles. The lads went at it in good form and for the distance it was an interesting struggle. The distance it was an interesting struggle. The men comprising the first eight finished half a boat length ahead of the second crew and the third eight was just a boat length behind the second. These are all varsity crew candidates. There was no time taken but Capt. Morse and Kennedy said that for the time of year and the short practice the men have had the speed was very satisfactory.

Baseball Notes.

Umpire Jack Sheridan expresses regret that changes in the rules were not made to increase batting, and thinks the public will tire of low score games before the end of another season. The three best billiard players that baseball ever turned out were Walter Wilmot, Anson and Dr. Harley Parker. But keep your eye on McGraw. He is a comer with the cue, and ran 45 recently at 6traight rail.

PENNSYLVANIA IS CHAMPION. Quaker Basketball Team Sure to Finish First in Intercollegiate League.

With three games remaining to be played With three games remaining to be played in the intercollegiate basketball championship series, it is certain that Pennsylvania has won the first place in the list. The Quakers have played nine of the ten games that they are scheduled to play, and have won eight of these. Columbia, the nearest competitor as the present prometty has also become the present promet. competitor at the present moment, has al-ready lost three games, so that no one now can overtake the Philadelphians. Columbia will likely finish second, and it will be a close thing between Yale and Harvard for third The two colleges are likely to tie place. The two for that position.

The showing made by Pennsylvania this season is all the more exceptional, because three of the players on the team are freshseason is all the more exceptional, because three of the players on the team are freshmen in the institution. Capt. Filit and Ehlers have played before at Pennsylvania, but Kiefaber, Keinath and McGrudden are freshmen. Just what this team is likely to be next season and the year thereafter, when the members have perfected their team play can only be left to the imagination. The Philadelphians were decidedly farsuperior to all the teams they met except Columbia's. The games played by the New Yorkers against the Red and Blue were sufficiently close. Columbia won the very first game of the intercollegiate schedule from Pennsylvania in Philadelphia by a score of 14 to 12. The Quakers beat Columbia in New York after an extra period of play 17 to 15.

During the week just passed three games were played. Yale quenched the hopes that Columbia had of tying with Pennsylvania, defeating the local team at New Haven 17 to 15. Pennsylvania beat Yale at New Haven 123 to 11, and Harvard defeated Cornell at Ithaca, 26 to 13. The schedule of thirty games comes to a close this week. On Friday Columbia plays Harvard in New York and Pennsylvania meets Cornell at Ithaca. Yale and Harvard end the season at New Haven on Saturday. The standing of the teams is:

College. W. L. P.C. College. W. L. P.C. Pennsylvania. 8 1 888 Yale. 4 5 444 Columbia. 6 3 666 Princeton. 3 7 300 Harvard. 5 3 625 Cornell. 1 8 111

In the Western basketball championship there is a triple tie for first place between
